Festival Director's Message

Welcome to the 7th annual Sydney Craft Week Festival!

This year's festival theme is 'Time'. Events reflect on the theme: the time it takes makers to make; to learn a skill; to understand materials, and to build a practice as well as the timeless quality of handmade work.

Makers are patient and dedicated people who spend many years learning their craft to get to a point where they can take creative risks and innovate, adding to their brilliance.

The slow approach to handmade work is the antithesis of our busy lives in a fast-paced world that sometimes can seem to spin out of control. Making is something that all of us can turn to, to slow down and appreciate time in a different way, a quiet meditative process that soothes the mind and stretches time.

Sydney Craft Week is the first and only festival in Sydney dedicated to making by hand. This year is our 7th birthday with 320+ participating artists and 57 groups in 152+ events across 37 suburbs across Sydney and beyond.

Special thanks to the participants, supporters, Festival producer Fiona Pulford and the ADC team, designer Maria Pia Mosquera and to Samee Lapham for her beautiful cover photograph.

Take time to appreciate craft, learn something new and support Sydney's makers.

We hope to see you all at Australian Design Centre – the Sydney Craft Week Festival HQ – during the Festival.

Festival Director

48 Before and After with Textiles Sydney Primrose Park Art and Craft Centre, Matora Lane off Young Street, Cremorne

Exploring the theme of time through the lens of transformation – raw materials into objects or an existing object into something new. There is the time of making before the work is completed and there is the time after, when the work is out in the world to be used or exhibited. Sometimes the work is never completed, and it is always ‘before’ and sometimes the work is thrown away so there is never an ‘after’, but in both cases transformation has taken place, and this is at the heart of craft.
